E.J.H.S. Win One Game, Lose The Other

DEFEAT MANCELONA, THERE 12-3. TRAVERSE CITY, HERE, WIN IN LAST INNING.

E.J.H.S.—12 — MANCY—3

East Jordan High School racked up its fourth baseball win of the season at Mancelona last Friday afternoon by trouncing the "Ironmen" 12 to 3.

The "Red Devils" had on their hitting togs in the Mancy fracas as they smashed out fifteen hits including four by Larry Huckle and a tremendous home run clout by Don Whiteford, his second of the season.

TRAV. CITY—6 — E.J.—5

Coach Gayle Saxton's East Jordan High School baseball nine dropped its first game of the season here Monday afternoon of this week when they were beaten 6 to 5 by a hard hitting Traverse City High School nine.

Traverse City pushed across its winning run in their half of the final frame on a hit batsman, a stolen base and a pair of singles.

The Jordanites who had come from behind on three different occasions to either go ahead or tie the count were unable to muster the necessary power to do it a fourth and thus dropped a real heartbreaker.

The "Red Devils" will wind up its 1951 season at Traverse City next Tuesday afternoon when they meet the "Trojans" there at 3:00 p.m. Seniors Larry Huckle, Max Sommerville, Byran Boring, Elwin Evans, Richard Dipzinski, Dean McPherson, Earl Bennett will wind up their high school athletic careers in the Traverse City encounter.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fales, East Jordan, announce the engagement of their daughter, Luanne, to Roderick Nichalson, son of Mrs. John Jiske of Port Huron.

No wedding date has been set.

How Many Servicemen Do We Have?

HAVE WE, AS A COMMUNITY BEEN NEGLECTING THEM?

Did you know that there are 62 men and women from East Jordan and vicinity in the Armed Forces at the present time? This fact is not generally known and to date little has been done for them by the community as a whole. To try to meet this need, a small group of local citizens met in the Legion Hall last Friday evening and reorganized the Community Service Club. This club is composed of representatives from all other organizations in our locality.

The order of business was election of officers followed by a discussion of means of raising money and suggestions as to how the club be of the most help to our service men and women.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Cyril Dolezel; Vice Chairman, John Downing; Sec'y. & Treas, Greg Boswell.

One of the projects suggested was the same as that carried on during the last war. To keep the service men posted on local happenings, a copy of the Charlevoix County Herald is to be mailed to each one every week. In order to start mailing these papers it is necessary to obtain the names and addresses of those in the service from this locality. Following is a list of those known to be in the services. Will parents, relatives, or friends of these men and women please turn in their addresses to someone at the post office? Anyone knowing of others who are not listed here, please turn their names and addresses in also.

Farmers Union

South Arm Farmers Union No. 380 met last Monday evening at the Grange Hall with 12 members and two visitors present.

The Jr. Camp was discussed and voted to set aside $30.00 to pay Jr. members' expenses to camp. This includes those 10 to 21 years.

The gas tax raise was discussed and opposed due to the fact the farmers do not use the roads enough to break them down. It is the heavy trucks with overloads that do extensive damage to the roads. There should be a heavy enough fine to help curb this and use this fine to repair roads.

The Hospital Insurance and Protective Asso. was explained by Archie Murphy. Also a few changes in articles available through the Ace Co-op (Buyers Club). At close of meeting the members looked through the catalogue and placed orders. The kitchen committee prepared a lovely lunch. Next meeting Monday, June 4th.

Just A Mistake

The bird apparently believes he has a competitor lodged under the hood of the car belonging to conservation department fire officer Oscar Toivanen. Each time the car approaches the courting area the bird rushes out and runs along side the road, attempting to catch up to the vehicle. Toivanen says that when he slows down and races the motor the bird charges the front of the car.

Bird damage so far: a bum leg, loss of all except three tail feathers—and frayed nerves?

Poultry Check List Aids In Good Care

With signs pointing to a strong egg market for the rest of the year, C. G. Card, head of Michigan State College's poultry department, believes that now is the time to make the most of good care and management of replacement pullet stock.

Between now and fall, he suggests that farmers check themselves on these points:

Do you have ample feeder equipment both for the brooded room and range? This should mean one four-foot feeder to each 100 chicks for the brooder room; and two outdoor type feeders (four feet long) per range shelter outdoors.

Insure an adequate and convenient water supply. Beware of trying to water growing pullets out of fruit jars.

Include a clean range in your plans. It should provide a source of natural green feed such as alfalfa and ladino clover. It should also have shade facilities and protection for the birds against bad storms.

Provide adequate roosting facilities early enough to avoid floor crowding and make a midsummer check for mites and lice.

Make plans for vaccination and see that it is done early enough to avoid costly setbacks, Card emphasizes.

While the birds are on range use a free choise of grain and mash method of feeding.

Close attendion to these management techniques will help to insure good replacement pullet stock for egg production, says the poultryman.

WHAT ARE THEY?

Conservation department park rangers are racing to get the last of some 8,000 picnic tables ready for their annual task of supporting tons of hot dogs, potato salad and soda pop. Earlier park weather has caused crowds at many of the 60 state parks and recreation areas. Including large and small tables, park rangers can seat over 71,000 picnickers at one time, not including the many who spread blankets for an outdoor feast. Here, James Altby, part time employee of the Waterloo recreation area, goes down a last row of new tables with a final touch of varnish.

FARM FACTS

from your County Agricultural Agent

Ed. Rebman, Co. Agr'l Agent

DON'T BURN THAT FENCE ROW:

This is the time of the year when many people start cleaning up yards, fields and fence rows. Some people use fire to dispose of excess grass, weeds and other materials. These people should watch out, however, as fire spreads rapidly and acording to Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent, must be handled with the utmost care. Lester Bell, extension forester of Michigan State College says don't set a grass fire unless you are prepared to control it.

Eash year much damage is done to fence posts, seedling trees and wild life by the people who carelessly set ground fires. Burning wsstes much good organic matter that should go back into the soil. So before you burn grass consider if you are destroying a resoure you need.

Hardwood seedling trees are extremely suceptible to fire damage in early spring. A small amount of that heat kills the tree by burning the cambium layer. Let's be extremely careful before we set that fire.

4-H HOME TALENT FUN FESTIVAL:

A group of people interested in 4-H group work met last week at a dinner meeting sponsored by the U. S. Tire and Rubber Company for the purpose of discussing a new 4-H project, the 4-H Home Talent Fun Festival. Six 4-H leaders from Chalevoix County met with the group at the Perry Hotel at Petoskey. They were Mrs. Henry Erber of Boyne City, Mrs. Bebee, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Parsons of Charlevoix, Mrs. Nasson and Mrs. Liskum of East Jordan. Also in attendance were five leaders from Emmet County, Bob Lincoln, county agr'l agent of Emmet County, Ed Rebman, County agr'l agent of Charlevoix County, K. C. Festerling, district 4-H club agent, Miss Emma Fero, home demonstration agent, Mollie Vasold, assistant state 4-H club leader, John Perry of the Perry Oil Company and Harry Irwin of the U. S. Tire and Rubber Company.

The meeting started with a very nice ham dinner. Following this the movie "Share the Fun" which was made including the acts put on by the state winners during 1950 was shown. Discussion then followed regarding the project.

The project is being tried this year in 35 counties in the State of Michigan. If it is successful it will be used in other states. Charlevoix and Emmet counties are two of these counties. The projects requires that the individual boy or girl be a 4-H club member. Any acts or program of not more than five minutes may be used, there may be from one to nine 4-H members in the show.

Mrs. Sadie Liskum, Mrs. Henry Erber, and Mrs. Floyd McCracken and K. C. Festerling are the committee to work out details for Charlevoix County. All members and leaders will receive in the near future, rules and regulations regarding this contest. The county contest will be held by July at which time the county winners will compete at Gaylord at the district show. The district winners will go to the state show at East Lansing for the state contest. The state winners will receive an all expense paid trip to Chicago for national competition.

GOOD LAWNS WANTED. CONTROL WHITE GRUBS AND WIREWORM:

A number of questions concerning control of white grubs and wireworms in lawns have been received at the Charlevoix County extension office, says Ed Rebman, county agr'l agent.

From Ray L. Janes, Michigan State College extension entomologist, the agent has received the following control recommendations:

Use either cholordnea or lead arsenate as the insecticide. Chlordane is used at the rate of 10 pounds of actual chemical to the acre. This amounts roughly to ¼ of an actual pound of chlorane to each 1,00 square feet.

To make this amount of chlordane, use 20 pounds of the 50 percent wettable powder or 25 pounds of the 40 percent wettble powder to the acre. In terms of 1,000 square feet, this represents one half pound of the 50 percent wettable powder or 6/10 of a pound of the 40 percent wettable powder.

The acre dosage can be applied in 100 gallons of water. The amount for 1,000 square feet can be applied in one gallon of water. A 5-percent chlordane dust may also be used as follows: 200 pounds to the acre; 5 pounds to each 1000 square feet. Apply the dust as it comes in the package.

Lead arsenate is used at the rate or 435 pounds to the acre or 10 pounds to 1000 square feet or one pound to 100 square feet. Lead arsenate can be applied either as a spray or dust. When using is as a dust, it is advisable to mix about 10 pounds of the chemical with one bushel of sand for easy spreading.

Agent Rebman says it is best to apply either chlordane or lead arsenate just before a rain. Otherwise, wet the lawn down with water after applying thesematerials.

BLACK ANGUS ARRIVES:

Black Angus semen has arrived for both the Antrim-Charlevoix ABA and the Boyne City ABA according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. Farmers who now wish to bread some of their cows to good beef bulls may obtain this service from the local inseminator. The inseminators for the Antrim-Charlevoix association are Bud Best and Dick Wieland of Ellsworth. Joe Schantz of Boyne City is the inseminator for the Boyne City association.

There are several reasons why farmers wish to use beef bulls, one is they like to cross a dairy heifers. Another reason for using beef bulls is on cows of low production where they will not raise replacement stock. Probably a third place where beef bulls might be used is where a farmer has almost all heifers being born. Farmers are urged however by county agent Rebman not to mess up their good dairy breeding program by the use of beef bulls.

Little Forage Found In Woods

Grazing woods inflicts serious damage to the timber land and provides stock with little forage, say extension foresters at Michigan State College.

Soil and water loss in timber areas where animals graze is increased greatly due to removal of the natural cover in the forest.

Animals also eat young tree seedlings, preventing adquate replacement of trees. Keeping livestock out of woods is best for both trees and animals, the foresters say.

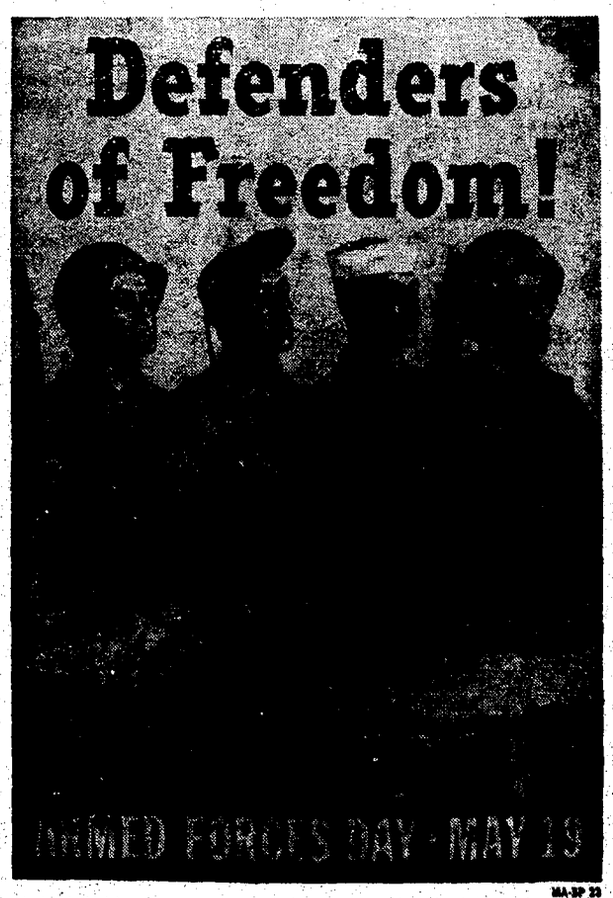

Home Economic Hints

An important step to follow in meat cookery is the use of low cooking temperatures, say Michigan State College home economists. This keeps the savour and juices in the meat, cuts shrinkage, produces more tender, palatable meat, and clear, flavorable meat, cuts shrinkage, produces more tender, palatable meat, and clear, flavorful meat drippings.

If you don't know whether it's safe to launder a dress, test the material and trimmings carefully before washing. The material may be colorfast but trimmings, reinforcements, or shoulder pads may not be.

If your electric range has open units, be especially careful to keep salt, soda, soap and sugar off the wires.

OPS Orders New Beef Price Control Plan Calling for 10 Cent Rollback

BEEF PRICE CONTROLS—In one sweeping order that will touch nearly every family in the home towns of America as well as 300,000 meat retailers and 25,000 packers, slaughterers and other meat wholesalers, the OPS put into force a new beef price control program calling for almost a dime-a-pound roll-back at the butcher shop by October 1.

The order is expected to save the American housewife $700 million in the butcher shops. Housewives cannot expect retail prices of beef to drop immediately, however, because the program provides for progressively reducing ceiling over a period of time that will allow livestock producers to unload their high cost animals.

Livestock men have balked at controls over cattle prices and warned they would result in less meat production. Michael V. DiSalle, OPS director, will likely be severely criticized by the industry.

Editors Meet

1. A 10 per cent cut in prices which slaughterers may pay the farmer for cattle. This goes into effect for accounting periods beginning on or after May 20

2. Dollar and cents ceilings are fixed for wholesaler and retailers for the first time. The wholesaler ceilings go into effect May 9, the retail ceilings on May 14. Butcher shops must post retail ceiling price charts, by grade and cut, by June 4.

3. Prices slaughterers may pay for cattle are to be reduced an additional four and one-half per cent on August 1 and by same amount on October 1.

4. On the same August 1 and October 1 dates, retail beef prices cuts of from four to five cents a pound will go into effect.

MORE CONTROLS—Main Street may feel a greater degree of the control pinch if President Truman's proposed legislation gets through congress. He has called for re-enactment, with some stiffening, of virtually everything in the defense production act of 1950. In view of Mr. Truman's recent troubles, it is doubtful if his suggestions will be accepted without considerable criticism.

He proposed:

1. Fixing the parity price for each farm commodity as of the beginning of its marketing season for price control to cover the entire season.

2. Establishing effective rent controls for both residential and commercial properties "wherever needed to stabilize the cost of living and the cost of doing business."

3. Strengthening machinery for the enforcement of price control regulations.

4. Authorizing the government "to build and operate defense plants to produce essential materials and equipment.

5. Providing for controls over credit in the sale of existing housing.

6. Regulating speculative trading on commodity exchanges.

THINGS TO COME—If the man on Main Street thinks the Truman-MacArthur controversy is going to die, he is badly mistaken. The battle is just about to begin.

This was indicated in a long and extemporaneous speech by Sen Robert Taft in which he attacked the U.S. joint chiefs of staff and demanded that the U.S. go "all-out" in Korea.

The senator said that he was willing to follow the MacArthur proposals for bombing military objectives in Communist China and for giving logistical support, meaning transport and cover, to Nationalist attack on China proper.

The senator's speech made it clear that the Republican plan to use the forthcoming investigations of the MacArthur dismissal to force an overturning of present far east policy.

A WARNING TO AMERICA—Robert A. Vogeler, shaky, pale and nervous was released from a Hungarian prison after 17 months imprisonment. He had a message for the Main Street of America.

"I want to warn every individual American that what happened to me can happen to them if we don't band together to destroy these enemies of individual freedom," he told newsmen after his release.

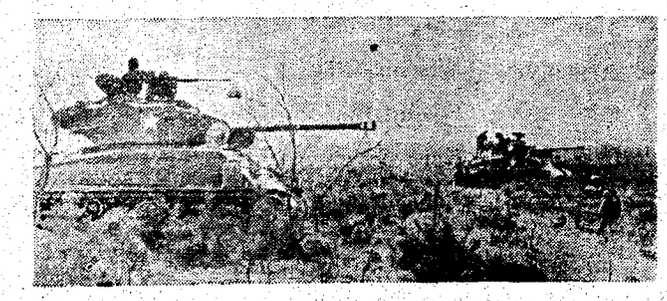

"I have a message for America—an important one.

"America must be made aware of what can happen to human rights—right of a person to go where he wants and say what he wants . . . or the right to be able to go to bed and not be afraid of being taken away from his family to prison in the middle of the night."

RETURN OF LABOR—With the return of organized labor to all defense-mobilization agencies, the man on Main Street can expect the unions to exert a greater influence over the administration's future defense proposals.

It was evident by labor's return to the defense agencies that the administration had surrendered on many points of conflict and is now willing to listen to the united labor policy committee.

Union leaders made known immediately their first campaign. As one expressed it, "We will now turn the heat on congress by undertaking a new campaign for tighter price-control laws and other legislation to insure equality of sacrifice in the defense effort.

Chinese Attack South of Parallel

A U.S. tank battalion lumbers into a defense position north of Seoul, prepared to take a heavy toll of advancing Chinese Communist forces.

SPRING IN KOREA—It is spring in Korea. But there is no peace and tranquility in the warm sun. The song birds can not be heard for the constant roar of artillery. The tender sprigs of grass and shrubs are trampled beneath the boots of invading Chinese and defending United Nations troops. It is time for war in Korea.

But the great Communist spring offensive is not doing so well. And the people in the home towns of America who are thinking of their sons and brothers and husbands have gained confidence from reports of allied victories.

The Reds approached Seoul, but came to a dead stop after allied naval, air and artillery bombardments. On other fronts the fighting had died down for the time being.

But as long as it is spring in Korea, the Communists will attack. This time, however, they are running into a meat grinder of fire power.

A SLIGHT DECLINE

Food Prices Down .3 of a Per Cent

The bureau of labor statistics reported that a survey of eight cities revealed that retail food prices declined slightly during the latter part of March.

It was the second time since the wage-price freeze of January 25 that there was a falling off in the retail food-price index kept by the bureau. The decline, however, was only .3 of a per cent.

At the first of April the index was about 11 per cent above that of last June, before the Korean fighting began, and 14 per cent above a year ago.

The decline was due largely to a small drop in prices of fresh fruit and vegetables. Cabbage led the decline with a 19 per cent drop. Carrots were down 18 per cent and fresh tomatoes down 11.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

BY...DREW PEARSON

Wake Island Report

A HIGHLIGHT of the current Truman-MacArthur controversy is the New York Times story summarizing the conversations between the two men at Wake Island.

Because the New York Times story had the earmarks of being leaked out by the White House, some MacArthur proponents have challenged it, while MacArthur states that no records were made of the conversations on Wake Island.

In view of this controversy, the Washington Merry-Go-Round's account of the Wake Island conference, published on Jan. 23, some months prior to the Times' April 21 account, may be significant. For the President can hardly be accused of any partiality toward this writer except in his choice of cuss words.

Writing at that time — three months before the Truman-MacArthur controversy — I reported that:

1. MacArthur was so sure of victory he promised General Bradley that he would transfer one full division to Europe.

2. MacArthur assured the President the Chinese would not intervene.

3. MacArthur expected to get his troops back to the United States by Christmas.

4. Because of the certainty of victory, much of the conference was devoted to plans for reconstructing Korea.

5. Highlight of the Wake Island meeting was the brilliant conversation of one man. MacArthur completely dominated the conversation.

What They Said

Because the Wake Island conference now appears to be playing such an important part in the Truman-MacArthur controversy, the salient portions of my Jan. 23 Wake Island column follow:

The President of the United States flew halfway around the world to confer with General MacArthur, yet aside from a few conversational pleasantries, nothing has been published regarding what happened.

The direct talks between MacArthur and President Truman took place with no one else present; no stenographic notes were taken. It is next to impossible, therefore, to report accurately what happened. Furthermore, the stenographic notes made of the more extended conversation between Truman, MacArthur, General Bradley, and the other military men are still so secret that each copy is numbered.

Home by Christmas

MacArthur assured Truman that he could "finish the job in North Korea" in a short time. According to the stenographic notes he said:

"I hope to be able to have the 8th army back in Japan by Christmas. I may be able to send a convoy into Pyongyang immediately."

At this point, President Truman asked: "What about Chinese intervention?"

MacArthur's reply was: "They could have intervened earlier when it would have been decisive, but that time has passed. We are no longer fearful of their intervention. Although there are several hundred thousand along the Yalu river, it is not likely that they could cause us much trouble."

MacArthur's advice on the future of Korea was: "We should turn Korea over to the Koreans as quickly as we can and get out as quickly as we can.

Troops to Europe

At one point, Gen. Omar Bradley asked whether MacArthur could make any troops available for Europe in the next two months.

MacArthur replied: "Yes, I think a division can be made available early in 1951."

Bradley also remarked that he hoped MacArthur wouldn't have the same trouble he had with American pilots in Europe shooting up railroad bridges that were needed later for rehabilitation.

"I have the same trouble," MacArthur replied. The stenographic notes show laughter at this point.

Only other laughter came when John Muccio, U.S. ambassador to Korea, proposed using sound trucks for propaganda purposes to sell democracy to the Korean people.

MacArthur Merry-Go-Round

The Foreign Minister and Vice-President of Peru, who have been honored guests in this country, didn't mind being ousted from their Waldorf-Astoria hotel suite to make room for General MacArthur. But they did feel hurt at the lack of confidence implied by the fact that the locks on the doors were changed immediately after they departed . . . MacArthur was able to recognize at least one Democrat among the Republicans—Sen. Tom Connally of Texas.

No Time for Gossip

A young lady guest at a hotel called a friend on the telephone. "Mary," she said, "do come right over. I have the most exciting news, but I can't tell you now. You know that hotel operator always listens in."

"How dare you make such an accusation," a third voice cut in. "I'll have you know that I'm too busy to interest myself in other people's conversations."

Rich Impression

Mrs. Suburb had left her watch with the jeweler for repairs and a few days later went downtown with her husband to pick it up. Mr. Suburb waited in the car while his wife entered the store. In a few minutes she came out.

"Get your watch?" he asked.

"No," she replied.

"Why not? Wasn't it ready?"

"No, it wasn't that," replied Mrs. Suburb, "but Mrs. Van Swagger was in there buying pearls, so I just inquired how long it would take to clean a diamond tiara and left."

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

Professor: "Mr. Jones, I hate to tell you but your son is a moran."

Jones: "Where is he? I'll teach that young pup to join a fraternity without consulting me."

Hi, Bo!

According to Mark Hellinger a footsore hobo was walking along a highway thumbing his nose at the cars speeding by. In time, another hitchhiker coming from the other direction spotted him in some amazement.

"Hey, bud," he cried when they met, "what's the idea of thumbing your nose like that? You'll never get a ride that way."

The member of the willingly unemployed made a cynical gesture. "Who cares?" he shrugged. "This is my lunch hour."

Insomnia

"You know," she said confidentially, "I think of all the nasty things I've said during the day before I go to sleep at night."

"Darling," he murmured, "how can you get along on so little sleep?"

GOOD OLD DAYS

In a sidewalk cafe in Munich, two Germans sat sipping third-rate beer. Sighed one, "Ah, the good old days! Do you remember the fine food and liquor, the warm house, the soft bed, the easy work, the newest movies, no worries at all?"

"Ja, ja," agreed the other. "Naturlich, I do. Do you think we'll ever have the opportunity to be prisoners of war in America again?"

Any Better Answer?

"I've never heard a man talk so fast in my life."

"Why shouldn't he? His father was a tobacco auctioneer and his mother was a woman."

Scientific Reason

"My poor fellow," said the would-be reformer to the alcoholic, "When did you take to liquor? Was it after your divorce?" "Oh, no," was the reply "it was after I had seen a drop of water under a microscope."

SAFETY FIRST

When Tommy came home from school with a swollen eye and bruised lips, his mother said reproachfully, "Oh Tommy! Have you been in another fight?"

"I was just keeping a little boy from being beat up by a bigger boy," he replied.

"Well, that was brave of you, dear. Who was the little boy?"

"Me, Mommy."

Business history has been made in Michigan. A Saginaw family has become the millionth owner of the most widely owned business in the world—the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

No other company has even half as many owners. The Bell System is owned by stockholders in 19,000 communities . . . in every state, in cities, in towns, on farms, people in all walks of life sharing the same faith in the strength and integrity of American business.

The savings of these million stockholders have improved and expanded the Bell System's service to the nation — made it the best telephone service in the world. And that's especially important today. Good telephone service is a valuable asset in peacetime . . . but vital in time of national emergency.

We're proud to welcome our new owner, the Dentons of Saginaw. And we're especially proud that this historic milestone has been reached in our state.

Dangers of Wartime

Lesson for May 20, 1951

NOT all the dangers of wartime are to life and limb. More serious dangers threaten the minds, the attitudes, the characters, the souls of those who make war. Some of our readers will find no war a good war; others will draw a line between wars that are justified and wars that are not. But no matter how well-justified a war may be, its dangers to mind and heart are just as real as if it were not justified at all.

Dr. Foreman

"—To Decide Who Is Left"

ONE danger which war-making brings is that it gets everyone thinking that might makes right. Now might does not really make right and never did; otherwise the champion heavy-weight would always be the best man, morally, in all the world, and the most helpless invalid would be the most wicked.

Along with this "might-is-right" idea is another one close to it: that the best way to persuade others to our way of thinking or to our way of living is to beat them over the head. That has never succeeded yet. You know yourself that you were never persuaded that way. Fists and guns and armies can make people change their tune, but never change their minds.

The way to change people is through their minds and consciences and hearts. One act of international goodwill, justice or generosity is more potent than tons of high explosives. The sending of food, services, skilled help such as doctors and teachers, does more to win friends than any number of armed alliances. The Christian way is always the way of love.

• • •

Topsy-Turvy Land

THE waging of war creates illusions. Besides the one just mentioned, of confusing might with right, there is this one too: a nation at war lives in a kind of topsy-turvy land. What is of greatest value is rated low, and things of little value are made much of.

The longer a war goes on, the more of a habit this crooked scale of values becomes. For instance: normally we value life above all things. Violent death is something to make the headlines, and causing death to others is something from which we all shrink. But in wartime we are all tuned, so to speak, to the business of killing.

Whatever genius such a nation may have, whatever productive power, goes mainly to building up the military "potential," devising more and better ways of inflicting sudden death.

Dr. Charles Leber tells of remembering, when a boy, how his father and mother read in the paper about the sinking of the steamship Titanic, which went down with the loss of over 1,500 lives. It was breakfast time when they read the paper; but neither father nor mother could finish the meal.

That was before World War 1. But now, forty years later, how many people would lose their appetite at reading of the death of a mere 1,500 persons? We are so used to slaughter that as Dr. Leber puts it, we have become brutalized, we have "lost our sense of compassionate shame."

• • •

The Illusion of Violence

TWO last illusions pursue the warring nation. One is that war is normal. In reality, however necessary war may ever be, it is never normal; but let it run too long or come too often, and people take it for granted.

The other illusion is that it is possible by war to end wars, that by one more war, one more victory, peace will be secured once and for all. It never works.

"The one thing you cannot do with bayonets is to sit upon them." Arnold J. Toynbee has warned us (see his "War and Civilization") that "the ultimate failure of all attempts to win salvation by the sword . . . is demonstrated in history."

He might have taken his text from Isaiah 31, or the history of Israel and Judah, for Isaiah was saying much the same thing to both Hezekiah and Sennacherib. But neither one understood him; and so their nations died. For whenever any nation puts its supreme faith in force, and neglects the character of its citizens, or the justice of its institutions, then it has forgotten God.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

The last-minute jam of legislation in the state legislature now in its fifth and final month of deliberations, has set a new record of some kind in the opinion of veteran observers.

After taking is easy for four months, the House and Senate are now trying frantically to digest an avalanche of bills before adjournment on May 25. Bills are being considered hastily; committee amendents are not being read in many instances; rules are being suspended whereby a bill goes immediately from general orders to final vote — all in a matter of seconds.

Like the old railroad collision joke, lobbyists who have seen legislaturers function at the state capitol for many years concluded: "There ought to be a better way to run the legislature than this."

Lack of leadership in both the House and Senate prompted the Associated Pres bureau chief, Jack Green, to write: "The 1951 session should be written in history as one of the weakest, most do-nothing, most piddling." Few Republicans office-holders could find fault with his indictment.

In fact, one leading Republican office-holder — a popular vote-getter last November — believes thta the Republican party must do something about the legislature's inefficiency if it is to merit continued support in Michigan. He proposes that the party caucus agree on legislative rules which might insure the 1952 session from degenerating into the same plight — a last minute rush to get action after months of delay and inaction.

The popular primary is blamed in part for the rise of leaders who feel no responsibility to the party and hence do as they please.

Interesting enough is the trend of the "Little Hoover" fact-finding reports, as submitted by so-called experts, to recommend centralization of authority in the hands of the governor. Michigan's split between the governor and other administrative offices and the legislature has contributed to s stalemente with consequent confusion and strife.

The House of Representatives approved a bill to increase their salaries for the second time in two yearrs. In 1948 legislators drew $1,095. In 1949 this was raised, under authority of a new amendment to the constitution, to $2,900 plus $400 annual expenses. The House recently voted to boost this to $4,500 a year — $3,600 salary plus $900 in expenses. A Republican caucus in the Senate cooled off the legislators' fever somewhat. No increase in salery but $900 in expenses was recommended.

Senator Blair Moody, Williams' appointee at Washington, has indirectly prompted a movement among Republicans to nominate Arthur Vandenberg Jr. for the office next year. Moody pleads for continuance of the Vandenberg tradition of unpartisan foreign relations —a policy probably known to Vandenberg Jr. than any other person at the state capitol. He was secretary of his illustrious father for many years; in fact, in appearence and speeh is "a spitting image" of his dad. The appointment of Moody is being interpreted in G.O.P. circles as a move by Williams to get the Democratic nomination as vice-president. The governor went speechmaking to Nebraska last week.

Action on the St. Lawrence Seaway project has reached a new stage in that a meeting is planned soon for Omaha, Neb., to which 15 governors will be invited. Topics will include all improvements beneficial to the middlewest.

But it is obvious that Governor Williams is setting the stage to push as his pet project, a through route from the Labrador mine deposits to Lake Michigan's port smelters.

Such a gubernatorial forum is expected to bring the proper pressure to bear on Washington for approval of the Seaways program. Some 100 miles of the St. Lawrence river would necessarily have to be dredged.

It is a logical possiblity that if the gas tax veto promised by Williams is upheld by the legislature the deadlock will result in a special session. Recent figures released from the governor's office indicate that a 1.197 cent gas-tax plus truck taxes already aproved would bring in the $30,000,000 needed by the highway department.

Williams is still holding out for a corporations tax — even if he must cut his original four percent request. G.O.P. see such a levy as just another consumer tax.

Governor Williams has instructed the state racing commissioner to investigate a reported link between certain stockholders of the Wolverine raceway (Detroit) and Frank Costello, gambler of Kefauver committee fame — or notoriety.

Detroit hs been caught with its ballots down — and is screaming. Awarkening to find the senate had passed a bill elimating straight ballots Wayne county clerk Edgar M. Branigin looked down his nose and said, "It has all the appearances of a Rebublacan finagle."

The highway department now is in the midst of painting markings of 7,000 miles of state arteries. First lower peninsula trunklines to be painted will be US-12, US-113, US-16, M-60, US-27, US-31 and US-131, in that order.

The "Little Hoover' commission recommends that the job of superof the state office building, the libtaken out of politics, and Dr. Lee M. Thurston, now holding the position agrees. The commission urges creation of a board of laymen with power to appoint a professional commissioner of education.

Following a recommendation that the state library be tossed out intendent of public instruction be rary board threw the book at Robert F. Steadman, state controller, and demanded that $100,000 be appropriated for architectural plans of a new library building. Where Steadman would move the library if his plans are approved is a mystery.

In backing a bill to allow old age grants to persons who take jobs to obtain a minimum subsistense standard, the senate has violated a federal law. But the chamber agreed to battle it through, starting the federal social security board seeks to hold recipients to sub-standard way of life.

Tearing off the top two floors of the state office building and remodeling the remainder of the building will cost $2,921,000. An expensive undertaking, but necessary. Former occupants of the building are scattered all over the capitol city in quonsets and wingy offices.

In the small game and deer hunting season of 1950 there were 212 hunting accidents resulting in 25 deaths and 190 injuries. Three accidents caused injury to two persons.

ANGLING ANGLES by old Hi

In the Spring, before the water gets too warm, you can have a lot of fun catching grassy or chain pickerel. The fish are hungry and lively at this season, and wage spirited fights when taken from clean lakes and rivers.

These pickerel are numerous and widespread, from Canada to the deep South, and grow to be the largest of their tribe. Old Hi has boated Eastern chain pickerel weighing more than six pounds, while trolling with fluted spoons and feathered spinners, but the average size is two to three pounds.

One thing about these fish, you don't have to be fussy about their chow. They'll devour frogs, crawfish, bass bugs, worms, grasshoppers, dobsons, minnows, and other live baits. And in the artificial lure division you can please them with plain spinners, spinner and pork rind, nickel or copper spoons, striped spoons, June Bug spinner, Red Flash wobbler, flasher spoons, large bass flies, streamer flies, Winchester bait, and the Baswiggler.

Yes, sir, pickerel will take almost any lure that flashes and twirls at a fairly rapid rate. Red and nickel combination spoons are good, and so are spinners or spoons with hooks hidden in red and yellow feathers or hair.

It seems that a lot of anglers have trouble in telling a chain pickerel from a northern pike. In Old Hi's booklet "Fishing For The Millions" you'll find a simple, easily remembered method for identifying these two members of the pike family. And also how to tell them from a musky, if you are puzzled.

Better send for your free copy of this booklet today, for it will help you have better sport with all sorts of fresh water food and game fish. Just plainly print your name and address on a penny postcard and send it to me, in care of this newspaper.

To have the liveliest sport with pickerel this Spring, troll close to the shores with an outboard motor, using a 2-piece "Woodsman" tubular glass fly rod, Utica automatic fly reel, size H level Old Gold silk fly line, 12-inch wire leader, and a streamer fly, feathered spinner, or small flat plug for a lure. Brother, you'll find out what pickerel can really do!

Everyone who goes to the seashore with tackle likes to try for weakfish. Boys and girls have a great time with these nimble fighters, and men and women get a big kick out of tussling with them on light bait or surf casting rods. Weakfish will play for you day or night, so they make excellent targets for week-end trips.

By this time of May they have wandered far northward along the coast, and may be caught with live baits and artificial lures on the rising and falling tides. Send for your free copy of Old Hi's booklet "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and increase your chances of taking these fish by reading the chapter on weakfish and following its suggestions. Also ask for "Pacific Coastal Fishing," on general salt water and salmon rod and reel angling.

New Folder Helps Choose Best Lease

Some helpful information on choosing and working out the proper type of lease for your farm is contained in a new folder recently issued by the Michigan State College Cooperative Extension Service.

In this folder, E. B. Hill, MSC agricultural economist, describes the three most commonly used types of farm leases in Michigan; the crop and livestock share farm leases in Michigan; the crop and livestock share farm lease; crop share cash farm lease; and cash fam lease.

The folder discusses how these leases are set up, what situations they are adapted to usual provisions, and advantages and disadvantages.

The new leaflet also covers renting of fields, special problems which frequently arise in preparation of lease agreements, and essentials for success on a rented farm.

Cull Potatoes Make Good Livestock Feed

Limited amounts of potatoes may be used as a substitute for other feed for most kinds of farm livestock. They should be cooked for the swine and poultry.

Sliced, chopped or whole potatoes may be fed to cattle and sheep. Whole potatoes may cause choking in cattle.

Michigan State College extension specialists have prepared a folder, "Feeding Potatoes to livestock" which deals with the amounts and preparation. A copy may be secured from county agr'l agents or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Information Services, Michigan State College, East Lansing. Ask for Folder F-147.

In the Ladies League the E.J. Canning Co team was the winner in the match with the Dress and Gift Shop for season championship in the league.

A fine time was had by 55 of the league bowlers at their annual banquet which was held at Cal's where trophies and team and individual prizes wer given out. A skit, "Murder at the Lighthouse" was given by Thorsen Lumber Jeans which was received with much hilarity. Betty Robertson very graciously received the prize for having bowled the lowest game in the league for the year. Home Modernizing again won the Little Oscar for last place in the league and for having won it three years in succession will now keep it permanently. Six of the local Ladies teams journey to Lansing this weekend to bowl in the Annual Ladies State Tournament. The teams entered are E.J. Canning Co. Dress & Gift Shop, Recreation, Thorsen Lumber Co, Dip's Tavern and Rainbow Bar. Good Luck, girls.

Watch Milk Handling Methods In Summer

With warm weather approaching, it is necessary for dairy producers to check their milking equipment and cooling facilities to make sure that a good job is being done, D. L. Murray, Michigan State College extension dairyman, reports.

A check now will avoid quality problems in marketing milk during the months ahead, he believes.

Check the milking and replace rubber that has become checked or of such condition that is is difficult to keep clean. Another suggestion is to adopt the weekly routine of boiling the rubber inflations and milk hose in a lye solution for at least 15 minutes.

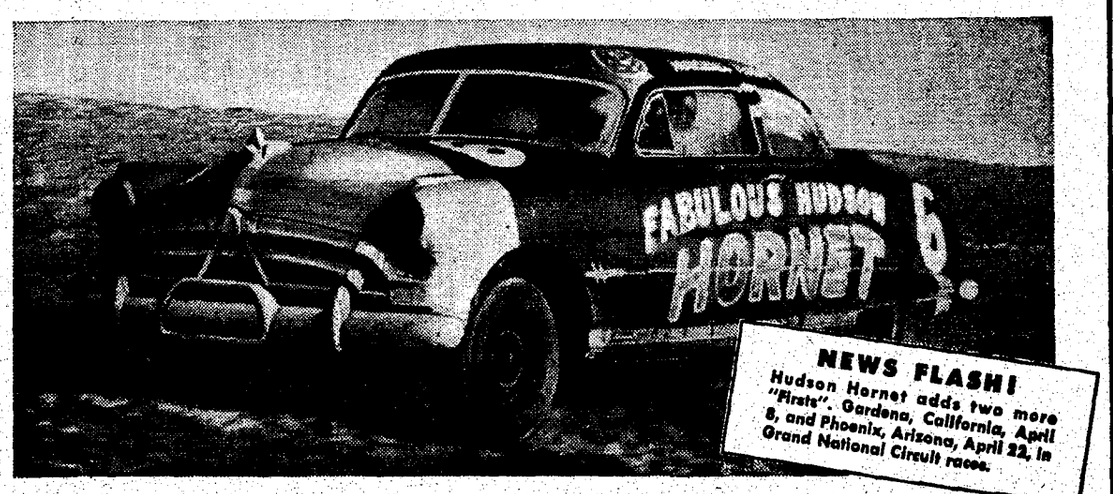

Pails and cans should be checked for milk stone deposits. If they are present, Murray suggests that some milk stone remover should be used so that a clean, bright surface will be present for easy cleaning.

Cooling facilities should be operated so that milk will be cooled to below 60 degrees Fahrenheit within an hour after milking to reduce bacteria growth.

If the doctor said the end was near, how would you spend your last months on earth?
